

This Is Not Art is looking for committed people to fill key organisational (volunteer) roles for 2008. Its an amazing opportunity for you to get involved in a vibrant, independent national festival, meet amazing people, develop your skills - everything except get paid!

So, if you're a keen local who wants to roll up their sleeves and get involved in the country's most exciting cross-practice arts festival we want you to join our team. Getting involved at this stage means you can contribute to planning, promoting and developing the festival – a perfect opportunity to get hands-on experience, test yourself, or share your talents.

Marketing Co-ordinator – the linchpin of the Promotional campaign, you will be the wordsmith preparing exhilarating copy for printed promo, website, e-newsletters & ads, managing the marketing materials, as well as rolling out the distribution strategy. Uber-organised and wow-ing us with your words.

Role Description

Assists the Festival Co-ordinator

Works with Webmaster and Publicity & Audience Researchers

- Copy writing for website, promo materials, newsletters, e-lists, web listings
- Writing radio ad and news items for website
- Developing and co-ordinating print marketing materials
- Liaising with designers, print suppliers
- Distribution of marketing materials locally and nationally - maintaining mailing list, plus researching additional distribution

To apply

Email [marni\[at\]thisisnotart.org](mailto:marni[at]thisisnotart.org) with the position title and your name in the header.

Send:

-up to date cv (no more than 2 pages, & including name & phone contact for 2 referees)

-cover letter outlining how you fit the bill and why you want the gig.

Expressions of Interest invited until Friday 17 May.

Additional volunteer positions for the festival will be advertised in the following months – production assistant, events manager, sound engineer, events assistant, stage manager, bar staff, etc. Stay tuned!

NOTICE:

Intention to Advertise - Festival Co-ordinator, paid part-time (24 hrs/wk)

The Octapod Association intends to advertise the This Is Not Art Festival Co-ordinator position this coming June, in local and national publications. This is a paid part-time position with the Octapod Association. The successful applicant will begin in the role with a handover prior-to, throughout, and after this years festival. Applicants with previous experience working on This Is Not Art festival will be highly considered. The full position description and job offer will be advertised in June.